TERRIFIED MURDERERS.
An Execution at Chicago Terrifies the Capital Sentence Men.

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—Painter's death today on the gallows had a remarkably depressing influence on the men confined in "murderers' row" in the county jail. Patrick Eugene Pendergast, condemned to die for the murder of Carter Harrison, took no pains to conceal his grief over the execution. He occupies the cell No. 23 with murderer Craig, and when he had satisfied himself that Painter had marched to the scaffold he climbed into the upper bunk and began to pray. "O God have mercy upon an innocent man!" he repeatedly cried, wringing his hands with anguish. He is being murdered, even as they would murder me," Pendergast climbed down from his bunk, pushed his cell mat away from the door and tried to catch a sound from the north corridor. At last it came. The noise of the falling door reached his ears. Then he buried his face in his hands, mumbled something and climbed back into his bunk.

BISMARCK'S TRIUMPH.

The Honored Guest of the Kaiser and the Idol of the Fatherland.

The Progress From Friedrichsruhe to Berlin—A Grand National Ovation.

BERLIN, Jan. 26.—To-day will go down in history as the day marking a great event in Germany—the final act in the reconciliation between Emperor William II. and Prince Bismarck, to whom is due the fact that there is among European sovereigns such a personage as a German emperor. The streets of Berlin were early alive with thousands of persons who were desirous of witnessing the triumphal procession accompanying the Prince from the railway station to the castle of his imperial host. Four years ago Prince Bismarck retired after a quarrel with his Emperor, and since that time until to-day he has never seen His Majesty. But to-day, upon the Emperor's invitation, the Prince came to Berlin, and the people showed him that in spite of his "blood and iron" rule, he has still a warm place in their hearts. The only topic of conversation in the cafes and other places where the public is wont to gather was the visit of the Prince and its probable effect on the political situation, for though it is said that Prince Bismarck has for ever retired from public life, it is thought that the Emperor will not disdain to seek advice from a man whose statesmanship has always been successful.

The castle at Friedrichsruhe, where Prince Bismarck resides, was early astir, and the preparations for his journey were soon completed. All the residents in the vicinity were out to bid God speed to the old man, who is a great favorite among those who live near him. At ten minutes past nine six ladies, all of them dressed in white, proceeded to the castle and presented to Prince Bismarck a large laurel wreath bound with ribbons and bearing the inscription, "A happy journey." When the time arrived for the start to be made for the station, the Prince appeared in the doorway of the castle and bowed to the people who had gathered to see him off. The people of Hamburg were greatly interested in the visit of the Prince, and a large crowd of residents of that city arrived at Friedrichsruhe at 8 o'clock to see him start on his journey to Berlin. Some of those present shouted "a prosperous journey," while others cried "auf wiedersehen." Before the train started the prince, who was in excellent spirits, thanked all those who had come to see him off and shook hands with many of the crowd. At the stations along the route many peasants were gathered, and as the train passed they and handkerchiefs were waved and many hearty cheers given. It was a veritable triumphal progress from Friedrichsruhe to Berlin.

When the train reached Spandau, one of Berlin's suburbs, the saloon carriage and the luggage van were dropped by the Hamburg express and another engine was hitched to take them to their destination. This engine was beautifully decorated with garlands and flowers. The train arrived at the station at exactly the appointed time. When it stopped Prince Henry stepped out from the group surrounding him and walked to the carriage occupied by the ex-Chancellor. Prince Bismarck came out upon the platform and Prince Henry grasped him by the hand and shook it warmly. He also shook hands with Count Herbert Bismarck. Then followed the others of the party, who walked to where the royal state coach was in waiting. Prince Bismarck made Prince Henry walk on the right side and sit on the right side of the carriage, although Prince Henry tried to give him the place of honor. Count Herbert Bismarck and the Governor of Berlin drove in the second carriage, which was an open landau, while Dr. Schweininger rode behind the regular procession, in a cab. There was an immense crowd gathered in the vicinity of the station, and as Prince Bismarck approached they broke out into the most enthusiastic cheering, and many were the salutations shouted to him. The Prince was evidently greatly pleased with his welcome. He smiled in response to the cries, and saluted the crowd frequently. Half a squadron of Gardes du Corps rode in front and behind the closed carriage. The vehicle had very large windows, and these permitted everything to be seen and allowed the crowd to look on the face of the Prince. The route to the royal palace was packed with people. Most of the houses along the route were decorated with flags.

It appeared as though the entire population of Berlin, swelled by thousands of persons from all parts of Germany, had turned out to welcome the return of the Prince, and the younger element in the crowds cheered themselves hoarse as the state coach passed along. In accordance with the orders of the Emperor, the Government buildings were flagged, and the city presented everywhere a gala appearance. At several points along the line bands were stationed, and as the procession passed national airs were played. At the Molke bridge and near the exhibition park were massed thousands of troops. The representatives from the German Students' Union, the Agricultural College and the several schools all wore the attire of their several corps, with caps and plumes, and swords by their sides. As the Prince passed they all saluted him. At several points along the line the crowd threw flowers before the carriage. The procession passed on its route to the French and Russian embassies. At the former the balcony was filled with the guests of M. Housette, the French ambassador. At the Russian embassy Count von Schouvaloff, the Russian ambassador to Germany, Prince Albrecht, and the Duke and Duchess of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, occupied the balcony and saluted Prince Bismarck as he passed. A detachment of police guarded the castle square, and none of the public were permitted within their lines. Inside the square a guard of honor from the Second Regiment of Footguards, with a band and the regiment's colors, were drawn up. Before the state carriage passed within the gates, Prince Bismarck and Prince Henry stepped out. Leaning heavily on Prince Bismarck's arm, the ex-Chancellor walked down in front of the company. His form was very much bent. The party then entered the palace.

"petits appartements," so called, wore as a special mark of honor, the uniform of the Bismarck cuirassiers.

His Majesty to-day nominated the Prince as chief of that famous regiment. His reception of the old statesman was of the warmest and most cordial nature. As Prince Bismarck approached him, he extended his hand, and the Prince, bowing, kissed it. The Emperor immediately lifted both his arms and embraced the Prince heartily. He then pressed a kiss on the old man's cheek and the reconciliation between himself and the greatest of his subjects was sealed. The ex-chancellor's eyes were moist and he looked very serious. Prince Bismarck's gravity of demeanor during his reception by His Majesty was much commented upon. After welcoming the Prince, the Emperor shook hands with Count Herbert and the whole party retired to a room where the King of Saxony and a number of German princes were waiting their coming. All saluted Prince Bismarck as he entered the room. Luncheon was served in the Emperor's private rooms at 1:45 o'clock. Covers were laid for only three persons, the Emperor, the Empress and Bismarck. After lunch the Prince retired to the room set apart for his use in order to retire for a short time. Before he retired, however, the Emperor's sons were presented to him.

In front of the rooms occupied by the Prince there was placed a double row of sentinels from the Guards Cuirassiers. After the Prince had rested for a time, he arose. In the meantime an immense crowd had gathered in front of the palace, pouring forth volley after volley of cheers or singing the patriotic hymns "Heil der im Siegerkranz," "Die Wacht am Rhein" and "Deutschland ueber Alles." This was kept up until the Emperor, Empress and Prince Bismarck appeared at a window and slightly bowed to the crowd, which at once went almost wild in their demonstrations of delight. The weather was fine and nothing occurred during the day to mar the joyousness of the occasion. All the ministers, including Chancellor von Caprivi, left their cards for Prince Bismarck. Dr. von Boetticher, secretary of the Imperial Home Office, was the first of the ministers to pay this courtesy. The regiment of Cuirassiers, of which Prince Bismarck was to-day appointed the head, gave a dinner in the evening in honor of the Prince.

Commenting upon the reconciliation between the emperor and the prince, the North German Gazette (semi-official) says: "It is nearly four years since the emperor has been face to face with prince Bismarck. To-day the Prince will be His Majesty's guest, and the ex-chancellor will realize that the gratitude of the court and the people for his incomparable services remains unaltered. Every patriot thanks the emperor for preparing so joyful a day for Germany. May this feast of reconciliation bear further fruit for our whole political life."

The Zukunft says that since the time, in the latter part of 1893, when the Emperor sent his dispatch from Gues to Kissenegg, where Prince Bismarck was ill, tendering him his sympathy and offering him the use of one of his castles, relations have never ceased between the two august personages. Dr. Schweininger regularly reporting to the Emperor everything concerning the Prince's health.

Hundreds of telegrams congratulating the Prince upon the reconciliation between the Emperor and himself are arriving daily from all countries. The Italian ambassador remarked to-day to another diplomat that to-day's meeting between the Emperor and the Prince was an historical event of the first magnitude. At three o'clock Chancellor von Caprivi was announced. He had an invitation to an interview with the Prince lasting three-quarters of an hour. At four o'clock the Prince was driven to the palace of Empress Frederick, the mother of the Emperor, and paid her a short visit. She pressed him to stay longer in Berlin, but Prince Bismarck begged to be permitted to follow his physician's advice and return to his home this evening. After leaving the Empress Frederick's palace the party, who were densely massed in the vicinity, broke through the police lines and tried to unhitch the horses harnessed to the Prince's carriage. They wanted to draw him back to the castle themselves. The Prince, however, prevailed upon them to forego their intention. The crowd was so thick that it was impossible for the horses to go faster than a slow walk, and as the carriage moved along the crowd surged forward with it, and everybody joined in singing patriotic songs. At 6:15 o'clock dinner was served in the rooms set apart for Prince Bismarck's use. The Emperor took dinner with the Prince.

As previously arranged Prince Bismarck's stay in the city was short. At ten minutes after seven o'clock this evening he went from the palace on his return to Friedrichsruhe. Throughout the entire time of his visit he was treated with the most distinguished consideration, and nothing was left undone that would add to the pleasure of his visit. Shortly after 7 o'clock a coach drove up at the main entrance of the palace. Accompanying was the whole squadron of the Gardes du Corps, for the Emperor intended to show every honor to the Prince and had announced that he would accompany him to the station. At exactly 7:10 o'clock the Prince appeared, leaning on the arm of the Emperor, and together they entered the carriage. Then amid the blare of trumpets the drive to the station commenced. The crowds still lingered along the streets, and cheer after cheer was given as the Emperor and the Prince and the military cavalcade swept along.

The train for Friedrichsruhe left the station at 7:25 o'clock. When the Emperor and the Prince entered the royal waiting room His Majesty threw his arms about the Prince and embraced him repeatedly. Count Herbert Bismarck and Dr. Schweininger followed the emperor's carriage in a closed coach. At about 4 o'clock in the afternoon Emperor William, accompanied by his suite, rode through Unter den Linden, which was filled with people for its entire length. His Majesty celebrates the anniversary of his birth to-morrow and will receive an immense ovation. To-night most of the illuminations prepared in honor of the Emperor's birthday were displayed. Prince Bismarck did not seem fatigued when he left the city. As the train pulled out he was seen at a window saluting the Emperor. The Prince arrived in Friedrichsruhe at 11 o'clock. He looked cheerful and hearty. The road from the railway station to the castle was illuminated.

OTTAWA, Jan. 26.—The Minister of Agriculture in his annual report strongly advises the Western farmers to go in for mixed farming.

The bank statement for December is out. It is a noteworthy indication that despite what has been said about the depression in trade, last year the bank circulation—that is the average for the whole year—is greater than it has ever been in the history of Canada, which is a pretty good indication that considerable activity prevails in business circles.

A novel application will be made to Parliament, viz., to incorporate the Boynton bicycle electric railway from Winnipeg to Louisburg, Cape Breton.

A golden haired half-breed Indian girl known as Lucy Harry was, it is said, sold to a resident of Port Moody this week for $150 cash. The affair has caused great excitement here. Lucy Harry was famous for her beauty throughout the coast. Her guardian Tom raised her to sell. She was of chance birth, her father being a blonde Saxon named Harry, the mother being a half-blooded Siwash. Her olive complexion, carriage and form are perfect, and her golden hair frames a face of rare beauty. The authorities will permit no slavery in British Columbia and have interfered.

Secretary Griffiths, of the Boston Bay Mining Co., says the trial with the new hydraulic machinery by which the river bottom was to be tested for gold was made at Boston Bay yesterday, at 2 p.m., which indicated that the scheme was going to be a success. Nothing else is talked of in mining circles to-day, and miners say, if the report is correct, the river will be lined with hydraulic machines, from Chilliwack to Quesselle, and the Province will boom. Jack Woods, a stockholder, gives his word of honor that the report is correct, and thinks the company will reap a rich harvest.

Although the water commissioners will not disclose the cause of their resigning prematurely, their unusual action is said to be due to the fact that the Council insist upon all money in the waterworks department passing through the city treasurer's hands, and the city commissioners insist on their being directly responsible for the finances.

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—The California pioneers of this city are to-day holding a reception and banquet in honor of the anniversary of the discovery of gold on the Pacific coast. Death has made considerable inroads upon their numbers during the past year, but between fifty and sixty survive. The names of General John Augustus Sutter and James W. Marshall are those which are most closely connected with the discovery. The first named was of Swiss parentage, born in Kander, Baden, in 1803, dying in Washington, D.C., in 1880. He entered the French service as an officer of the Swiss Guard and served in 1823-4 during the Spanish campaign. In 1834 he emigrated to the United States, settling in St. Louis, Mo. In 1838 he was induced by the accounts of Indians and trappers to cross the Rocky Mountains. He first went to Oregon, descending the Columbia river to Fort Vancouver, whence he sailed to the Sandwich Islands, where he purchased a vessel and proceeded to Sitka, Alaska. After disposing of his cargo he sailed south and on July 2, 1839, was stranded in the Bay of Yerba Buena (now San Francisco). He founded the same year the earliest white settlement on the site of Sacramento, receiving a considerable grant of land from the Mexican Government, and in 1841 built a fort, calling it New Helvetia, which was afterwards the first settlement reached by over-land emigrants to California. General Sutter gave aid, welcome and information to Captain Wilkes' exploring expedition, also to John C. Fremont and his party.

When California was ceded to the United States in February, 1848, Sutter was the owner of a large tract of land in Eldorado county, many thousands of cattle and other property. On January 18, 1848, James W. Marshall, a native of New Jersey, one of his employees, while superintending the construction of a mill race, found a nugget of gold on Mr. Sutter's property, and, collecting several ounces of the ore, took the specimens to Sutter's Fort. The discovery, as soon as it became known, brought many adventurers into Eldorado county, who overran his property and that of General Sutter, disputing the titles of both to the lands they occupied, and reducing both Sutter and Marshall to poverty, so that neither became any the better off for the gold which had been discovered on their land. Marshall died at Coloma in 1885.

CENTRAL AMERICA.

Bonilla Drives President Vasquez Before Him In Honduras—Floods in Colombia.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Jan. 26.—President Vasquez has been driven to Tegucigalpa, Gen. Ortiz having occupied the last of the mountain passes. Four hundred of Vasquez' soldiers went to the Nicaraguan camp last night. Several prominent Honduran military men have sent word that they will join Gen. Bonilla. Costa Rica has recognized Bonilla, who, a late report says, is in Tegucigalpa. Gen. Gutierrez has surrendered his entire force and Urutia's troops have been disbanded. Vasquez is negotiating for his personal safety. The Nicaraguan troops will remain in Honduras until Bonilla is firmly established in power.

PANAMA, Colombia, Jan. 26.—The Cauca valley is inundated. The flood is the most extensive and most destructive in the history of the country. All crops have been swept away, and the damage in other respects is beyond computation. The railways, however, withstood the water far better than might have been expected. Widespread distress is certain. The valley of the Cauca is one of the richest, most fertile and most populous of districts of South America.

STOCKS IN NEW YORK.

The "Bears" Pluck Up Courage and Vigorously Attack Certain Stocks.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—The stock market started off strong on the belief that the action of those incorporating the income tax with the Wilson bill would imperil the chances of the passage of the latter. American sugar, which is heavily oversold, at the moment made the largest gain, selling up 2 per cent. to 79½. The Grangers, Louisville & Nashville, Missouri Pacific and Chicago Gas were all in good demand and advanced ¼ to 1½ per cent. Missouri Pacific was particularly strong on alleged inside buying, and sold up to 24½. Lackawanna, on dealings of 420 shares, rose 4 to 168 and closed at 166 bid and 168 asked. During the afternoon the market ruled quiet for a time, but when the announcement from Washington was made that the Judiciary committee had questioned the rights of the Secretary of the Treasury to issue bonds, the "bears" plucked up courage and attacked Western Union, American Cotton, Oil and a few other stocks. Closing bids: Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, 11½; Burlington & Quincy, 70½; Canadian Pacific, 70; Central Pacific, 14½; Chicago, Columbus & Cincinnati, 135; Delaware & Lackawanna, 160; Erie, 14½; Wells Fargo, 124; Great Northern, preferred, 102½; Lake Shore, 126½; Louisville & Nashville, 45½; Missouri Pacific, 24½; New York Central, 100; New England, 33½; North American, 3; Northern Pacific, 4½; do., preferred, 10; Oregon Improvement, 33; Oregon Navigation, 20; Oregon Improvement, 33; Pacific Mail, 17; Reading, 19½; Rock Island, 67½; Southern Pacific, 22½; St. Paul, 55½; Texas Pacific, 8½; Union Pacific, 19½; Western Union, 84.

INFLUENZA.

Or La Grippe, though occasionally epidemic, is always more or less prevalent. The best remedy for this complaint is Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

"Last Spring, I was taken down with La Grippe. At times I was completely prostrated, and so difficult was my breathing that my breast seemed as if it were in a iron cage. I procured a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and no sooner had I begun taking it than relief followed. I could not believe that the effect would be so rapid and the cure so complete. It is truly a wonderful medicine."—W. H. WILLIAMS, Crook City, S. D.

PROVINCIAL LEGISLATURE.

Fourth Session of the Sixth Parliament.

SIXTH DAY.

FRIDAY, January 26, 1894.

The Speaker took the chair at 2 p.m.
Prayers by Ven. Archdeacon Scriven.

PETITIONS.

MR. HORNE presented a petition for a private bill for the consolidation of the acts relating to the Vancouver & Westminster electric railway and lighting company.

The petition of R. A. Anderson and others for a private bill to incorporate "the Great Western Telegraph Company" was read and received.

MR. EBERTS presented a petition from the Hall Mines Co., limited, for a private bill respecting a tramway line to the Silver King mines.

SUPPLY.

HON. MR. TURNER moved that the house resolve itself into committee of supply on Thursday next. Agreed to.

REFUSAL OF TEACHER'S CERTIFICATE.

HON. COL. BAKER thus replied to questions put by Dr. Milne:—

1. Did J. N. Muir furnish satisfactory proof of his good moral character to the board of examiners of teachers last July? Ans. Yes, but he did not satisfy all the requirements of section 56 of the public school act.

2. Did the board of examiners grant to J. N. Muir last July the opportunity of appearing before it to satisfy section 56 of the school act? If not, why not? Ans. It is not the practice for candidates to be required to appear before the board of examiners in order to satisfy the requirements of that section.

3. Did the board of examiners examine J. N. Muir last July, in order to satisfy section 56 of the school act? If not, why not? Ans. For the reason given in answer to second question.

4. Did the board of examiners give J. N. Muir any reason for its refusal to grant him a teacher's certificate last July? If not, why not? Ans. It has not been the practice of the board of examiners in making its report to state the reason of the failure of any candidate to obtain a certificate who did not fully satisfy the requirements of section 56 of the public school act.

5. Why did the board of examiners refuse to grant J. N. Muir a teacher's certificate last July? Ans. I am not in a position to state what individual consideration influenced the members of the board in unanimously refusing to grant to Mr. Muir a certificate in 1893, but do not doubt that it was because he failed to fully satisfy the requirements of section 56 of the public school act.

THE LABOR BUREAU BILL.

A message from His Honor the Lieut. Governor, transmitting a bill entitled "An act to provide for the establishment of a bureau of labor statistics and also for the formation of councils of conciliation and arbitration," was presented; and the bill was referred for consideration at the next sitting.

LODGERS' RELIEF BILL.

HON. MR. DAVIE moved the adoption of the report from committee on the lodgers' relief bill.

Report adopted and bill read a third time.

PARTNERSHIP BILL.

The house went into committee of the whole on the partnership bill, Mr. Sward in the chair.

MR. SMITH inquired whether the provisions of the bill would apply to mining.

HON. MR. DAVIE replied that mining is not so much partnership as co-ownership, and it was not intended that the act should apply to it in any form except coal mining. He would introduce some amendments to make the act quite clear on this point. (A new section making this provision was later added.)

The bill was reported complete with amendments, and referred for consideration at next sitting.

PUBLIC ACCOUNTS COMMITTEE.

HON. MR. BEAVEN, as a matter of privilege, called the attention of the house to the fact that the public accounts committee, appointed on Tuesday last, had not yet met, though it was important that the committee should examine into the public accounts before the estimates were considered. He stated that a meeting of the committee had been called for this morning, but of the five members only he and Mr. Cotton attended. He had ascertained that two members, Mr. Hall and Mr. Croft, were ill and therefore could not attend, and though he had tried in every way to find the other member, Mr. Martin, he could not do so. He thought it a singular thing that for the last few years there had been no report from the committee with the exception of a very brief report near the end of last session. If members could not attend committees he hoped their names would be struck off, so that others who could attend might take their places.

MR. MARTIN explained that the committee had been called together by him at the earliest time practicable, and he had spent the morning trying to find Mr. Hall and Mr. Croft, with the result that he learned they were too ill to attend. In reference to Hon. Mr. Beaven's lecture, he reminded that gentleman that in past years when he had other business to attend to he had himself stayed away from committee meetings.

HON. MR. DAVIE said he was glad to find that the leader of the opposition and the opposition generally were waking up to their duty, for it certainly was their duty to scrutinize the public accounts of the province at the meetings of the committee appointed for that purpose. It was a strange thing, however, that they had not brought up anything at all for the past few years, but that now, when a general election was imminent, they should be in such indecent haste that the failure of members to attend because of temporary illness at a meeting hurriedly called, should be made a subject of complaint to the house.

MR. COTTON resented the statement that the opposition were waking up to their duties, which he denied. He proceeded to comment upon the fact that the committee had presented no reports in past sessions.

HON. MR. DAVIE pointed out that Mr. Cotton was a member of the committee of 1892, which had made no report, and he was therefore as much responsible as anyone else.

MR. HALL explained that it was from no desire to shirk his duties that he was not present in the morning, but simply because he was not well enough to attend. The government members were just as anxious as were the leader of the opposition and his very ardent supporter, Mr. Cotton, to have the duties of the committee attended to.

MR. CROFT reminded the leader of the opposition that it was only a few years since he himself was ill, and that the house at that time frequently adjourned on Mr. Beaven's account, so that he might not have to attend at a night session. He had been suffering in the morning from sciatica, but some of the remarks of the opposition were even harder to put up with.

HON. MR. BEAVEN said he had not intended the slightest reflection on Mr. Croft or Mr. Hall. He trusted that the house would now make some arrangement for a meeting of the committee.

MR. SPEAKER remarked that this was not a matter for the house, but to be settled by the committee between themselves; and the house would now proceed with the orders.

WITNESSES AND EVIDENCE BILL.

The house went into committee on the witnesses and evidence bill, Mr. McKenzie in the chair.

HON. MR. DAVIE, in answer to a question, explained as before, that the bill was a digest of the present law on the subject, with some new provisions. It applied, of course, only to such proceedings as came within the jurisdiction of the provincial legislature, and not to the graver matters dealt with under the Dominion statutes.

MR. SWORD moved to amend clause 4, to add the words "but not compellable" after the word "competent." The clause in the bill read:—

4. Every person charged with an offence, and the wife or husband, as the case may be, of the person so charged, shall be a competent witness, whether the person so charged is charged solely or jointly with any other person.

HON. MR. DAVIE said that while the amendment was following the wording of the Dominion code, he did not think it well to adopt it here, as it gave to criminals a protection which they should not have at least in the commoner offences with which this bill dealt. The practice heretofore had manifestly resulted in the protection of criminals, who should very properly be made to go into the box and give an account of themselves. In the Stroebel murder trial, for instance, it was a question whether the man could have been convicted if he had not gone into the box and got himself tangled up in a mass of contradictions. Whatever might be said in favor of exempting a person charged with a grave criminal offence from testifying, he was opposed to any such exemption in cases of fence breaking, game shooting and the similar affairs likely to be commonly tried under this act.

MR. BOOTH preferred the clause as it stood. He said the reports of trials appearing in the English and United States papers showed that the law at present is simply a safeguard for criminals.

MR. SEMLIN spoke against going farther in the matter than did the Dominion statute.

HON. MR. BEAVEN thought that the operation of the new provision might, in the hands of a skilful lawyer, result in the conviction of an innocent man, and he thought it much better that a number of guilty men should escape than that one innocent man should suffer.

HON. MR. DAVIE pointed out that the tendency would be, not to make it more difficult for an innocent man to escape, but for a guilty man to avoid punishment. If this principle of excessive tenderness towards persons charged with criminal offences were acted upon to an unlimited extent the country would become a haven for criminals, and the public would lose confidence in the administration of justice. The result would be a constant menace to innocent persons, who if the people took the administration of the law into their own hands might be made the victims of unjust suspicion and condemned by lynch law without the semblance of a trial.

MR. BOOTH pointed out that the condition of the law as at present, where a man could not be compelled to give an account of himself, made it almost impossible to deal with the offence of sheep stealing on the islands which he represented, and the consequence was that the farmers found it unprofitable to engage in that industry, which otherwise would be very largely carried on.

The amendment was declared lost on a show of hands.

Good progress having been made with the bill the committee rose and reported and the house adjourned at 4:30 p.m.

NOTICES OF MOTION.

MR. KELLIE—On Thursday next: Whereas there is a vast extent of country lying north of Revelstoke rich in timber and mineral resources that for want of cheap communication is practically inaccessible; and whereas the removal of obstructions to steamboat navigation between Revelstoke and the mouth of Canoe river would give access to that vast timber and mineral region; and whereas it has been demonstrated by a competent engineer that the obstructions to navigation at Death rapids can be removed at a small expenditure; and whereas the encroachment of the Columbia river on the townsite of Revelstoke has destroyed and carried away a considerable portion of that townsite;

Therefore be it resolved, that a humble address be presented to His Honor, the Lieutenant Governor requesting that strong representations be made to the Dominion government to have the obstructions to steamboat navigation removed between Revelstoke and Canoe river, Big Bend, and further, that prompt steps be taken to protect the townsite of Revelstoke from the encroachment of the Columbia river.

MR. SWORD—On Monday: That a respectful address be presented to His Honor the Lieutenant Governor praying him to send down to the house a return showing the amount of taxes due and unpaid in each district at the close of the financial year ending 30th June, 1893; also a statement showing how much of these amounts has accrued in each year.

MR. WATT—On Tuesday: That a select committee consisting of Messrs. Brown, Forster and the mover be appointed by the house to consider the answer of the Hon. Chief Commissioner given on Wednesday last to the question in reference to the settlement of lands in the Nechaco valley, and report to this house any suggestions in regard to legislation for the disposition of these lands or other uninhabited crown lands in the province on the principles of the single tax system.

MR. WATT—On Monday: That in the opinion of this house the municipal act should be so amended as to empower municipal councils to require every person, company or corporation employing Chinamen in any capacity within the municipality to take out a license for that purpose, paying to such municipality for such license a fee of such sum as may be deemed expedient up to $50 per year for each Chinaman so employed for a year or portion of a year.

MR. FORSTER—On Wednesday: That a respectful address be presented to His Honor the Lieutenant Governor requesting him to cause to be sent down to this house copies of all orders-in-council authorizing the allowance of a drawback or rebate on royalties on any piles, spars or timber; with the amount of the same allowed, and the name of the company or person to whom the rebate has been granted.

Real Estate Agent, Conveyancer and Notary Public

Loans Effected, Rents and Income Collected, Deeds Prepared, Etc., Etc.

FOR SALE---A 1388-ACRE FARM

About 1000 Acres of which is Ploughable Prairie of First-class Quality.

120 Head (more or less) Cows, Steers, 2-year olds, etc., etc., (about 80 or more to calve this spring), 1 pedigree Hereford Bull (rising 3 years.

7 Mares (In foal to a good stallion), 1 Horse, Pigs, Chickens, etc.

Ploughs, Harrows, Reaper, Fanning Mill, Wagon, Sleds and usual Farm Implements.

Double Harness, Chain Harness, Bull Chains, Saddles (ladies' and gent's), Bridles, etc.

Blacksmiths' Bellows, Anvil and Tools and Carpenters' Tools.

9-Room House (shingle roofed; Stable for 10 horses, with hay loft above; Stone Roothouse, Store Buildings, Dairy, Cow Sheds, etc., etc.

4 Miles (about) Standing Fences, in good order; Corrals, 10 miles barbed wire and staples; about 2,500 Posts on the ground, ready for use, etc., etc.

Small Lot Household Furniture, Stove and Pipes, Crockery, etc., etc.

This Property is within easy distance of many of the most important Gold, Silver and Coal Mines in West Kootenay. The population of this district will increase this year by at least 10,000; the area of farm land is very limited, and from this it may be fairly asserted that beef and all classes of farm produce will find a ready and lucrative market. The soil is the best bottom land, and the locality is one of the few places in the Province where so large a piece of good farm land can be found in one block. A river runs through the property, and rainbow trout are plentiful and afford capital sport. Deer abound in considerable numbers. Bear, Wolf, Coyote and other large game are to be found in the hills. There are two creeks recorded and belonging to the estate, one flows all the year round. Limestone and brick clay are to be had in the valley.

The Cattle are well bred; a much larger herd could be farmed with the place. The bunch grass on the hills in the vicinity covers many thousands of acres, and is available to the few land owners in the valleys. All buildings and fences about the farm are of a good order, and farming operations can be gone on with at once; about 180 acres of ploughing have been, so far, provided for this year's work.

The Climate is not severe, the land being about 1,100 feet above sea level; the station was for many years the winter quarters of the H. B. Co.'s pack trains. There is a weekly express in and out. Goods and supplies at wholesale can be procured on order and delivered in 48 hours.

The Title is by grant from the Crown, and is free of all encumbrances. Immediate possession can be given.

Important Railway works are now in progress within moderate distance, and two railway lines have been run to pass close to or through the estate, which can be reached in the spring in three days' journey from Victoria.

The South West Kootenay District, British Columbia, judging from the actual ore products of the mines this winter, is destined in the next year or two to become one of the richest and most important mineral centres in the world. Statistics show, that although the district is in its primary stage, the mines have developed ore veins rich enough to warrant the investment of over million dollars. When these mines come to be worked systematically, there will be an

Influx of Population, which will require beef and farm produce in large quantities. The limited quantity of really good farm land in the district to supply these requirements makes this

A BONANZA!

To any person or corporation having the capital and knowledge necessary to develop and work this estate. A store, hotel and blacksmith shop could be run in connection with the farm.

THE PROTECTION OF PROTESTANTS.

We see that the Protestant Protective Association has been holding its convention in Hamilton. It is a pity that the Association has not advertised itself more widely, so that its aims and its methods might be fully known. If its objects are legitimate and its ways honest and straightforward, the more that is known of it the better are its chances of success. There are a great many people who dislike secrecy, and who are always suspicious of any organization that shuns the light. We saw somewhere that the P.P.A. convention deliberated with closed doors, and that the newspaper reporters had to be content with such an account of its proceedings as it pleased its officials to give them.

The members of the Association must be considered the best judges of the way in which they do their own business, but this dislike of publicity does not tend to make impartial outsiders think favorably of the Protective Association. They naturally want to get some information relative to the new organization. Many of them are as sound Protestants as there are in the country. If Protestantism is in danger, they are most desirous to know what that danger is. Some of them no doubt think that they ought to be informed as to the full extent of the peril, and they consider that those who band themselves together to protect Protestants are not treating them well when they do not tell them what it is that threatens Protestantism in this Dominion.

We must confess, for our own part, that we would like very much to know why Protestants need to be protected. We are under the impression that 'Canadians of all denominations enjoy full religious liberty. There is no body, that we can see, which has either the power or the desire to do Protestants the least harm or to abridge their liberties and their privileges in the slightest degree or in any direction. And we are quite sure that the great majority of the Protestants of Canada are most desirous that those who profess other religions should exercise every right and enjoy every privilege that they possess. Canadian Protestants believe in liberty of conscience and freedom of opinion. They also believe in the widest toleration. They would not place any man under disabilities of any kind merely because his creed is different from theirs, or because the religious forms and ceremonies which he practices do not resemble those of which they approve. The sincere Protestant of this and every other country rejoices that the days of religious persecution have gone by. He would not have a fellow citizen persecuted in any shape or way because of his religious opinions. More than that, he considers the man who desires to injure in any way his neighbor or to place any stigma upon him on account of his creed, an unsound Protestant. So much does the true Protestant hate every form of persecution that he would rather suffer persecution than inflict it. But he is very far from being a Quaker. If he finds that any one wants to injure him because of the religion he professes, he is quick to take his own part, and he does not hesitate to show those who would take advantage of him that he is not to be imposed upon with impunity. But the opponent he contends with must be real and substantial, and he must have done, or have attempted to do him an injury. He does not fight shadows, neither will he inflict an injury on his neighbor because he fears that some time in the future he may do him harm.

This being the case, it is, we submit, the duty of those who undertake to protect Protestantism to show all sound Protestants that they need protection. And when this is done, it should be done openly and boldly. The protectors of Protestants should not whisper in corners or shut themselves behind locked doors when they are making preparations for defence. They should declare their mission loudly and from the housetops, as it were, and they should defy the assailant in an open and manly way. This, besides being the honorable way of dealing with an adversary, real or supposed, is the most effective way.

The secret way of going to work is not fair to Protestants in general if there is any danger to guard against, and it is equally unfair if the danger is only imaginary. It, besides, gives the timid and the designing advantages to work upon the fears and the prejudices of their fellow Protestants, advantages which they ought not to have. Fears conjured up by faint-hearted fanatics may have an effect when they are made known to a select few in secret, but they would be dissipated in a very short time if expression were given to them aloud and in the face of day. In the same way columns which are passed from one to another at private meetings may obtain a ready credence, whereas if they were proclaimed in public their falsity would be soon demonstrated.

If, then, there is danger to Protestants in Canada, every Protestant should be made aware of it, and if Protestants are to combine for their own protection, let them do so openly. What have they to fear? If the Protestant Protective Association is a political organization by means of which a few ambitious and restless men desire to attain power and gain notoriety, its secret methods may be the best to attain those ends; but if its object is honestly to protect Protestantism, the more openly and fearlessly it does its work, the more powerful will it become and the more successful will it be in protecting Protestants if they need protection, or in demonstrating that their rights and privileges do not need protection if the danger conjured up by the Ontario Protestant Protective Association has really no existence.

IS IT THE "MANLY ART"?

The great slugging match between Mitchell and Corbett is over. Who is the better of it? How much good has it done? The law in Florida has been broken and the authorities defied. Has the violation of law by large bodies of men a wholesome effect on society? Is it a good thing to set the administrators of the law at naught? If prize fights like that which took place in Jacksonville were common in Florida, or anywhere else, society would very soon become so demoralized that a combination of law-abiding men would be absolutely necessary to put down law-breaking and rowdism. Imagine a community composed chiefly of pugilists and their backers!

And why did men exercise such ingenuity and go to such expense to break the law of the land? Simply to give two brutal men the opportunity to smash each others faces and to watch them while they battered each other. That is, to gratify one of the lowest instincts of man's nature. The talk of encouraging the "noble art of self-defence," and the manly virtues of coolness, courage and endurance, etc., is nothing more than the hypocritical cant of the prize ring. None of the virtues but a great many of the vices are fostered by this prize-fighting. The chances are that a pale clerk, whose neck Corbett could wring almost without an effort, has more grit in him, could acquit himself more pluckily in the face of real danger, and endure greater hardships uncomplainingly than either of the bullies who hammered each other at Jacksonville. It was proved in the American war that boys just from school, merchants' clerks, lawyers' clerks, schoolmasters, and young professional men made much better soldiers than the roughs and rowdies and plug-uglies of the cities.

As to real heroism, the heroism which every man who wants to live a decent life and make a place for himself in the world must exercise, not once or twice a year, but every day of his life, the pugilists as a class know very little of it. Have they the strength to resist temptation and to make sacrifices for the good of others? Are many of them capable of continuing an uphill struggle in the face of scores of difficulties and discouragements? Can they meet the trials of life bravely, and, after hundreds of failures and mortifications come up to the scratch undaunted and smiling. The career of the king of pugilists of our day, John L. Sullivan, shows that his training was of but little advantage to him in fighting the battle of life. Many a little fellow who would look like a dwarf beside John L., is his superior in all that constitutes true manliness and is better equipped in every way to fight life's battle. Is it not singular that the brute qualities of the giant are more highly considered by very many than the manly virtues of the little moral hero?

LOOK AT HOME.

It is amusing to see the Times, which is so faithful a servant of the party to which it belongs, and which is apparently at the beck and call of every one of its members no matter what difficulty he is in or how bad his cause, reproaching the COLONIST with being a "slavish organ." We have just as good a reason to assert that it "fawns upon" Mr. Kitchen, whose very zealous advocate it is, and that, too, in an exceedingly bad cause, as it has to say that we "fawn" upon the Premier. As long as it remains the thick-and-thin partisan it is, every reproachful epithet it casts at the COLONIST for advocating the cause of the Government, applies with greater force to itself. Our contemporary should look at home and try to see itself as others see it, before it deals in wholesale accusations of party subservience. We, perhaps, may be allowed just to hint that continued abuse and unending disparagement, besides being very unmanly, are apt to become from frequent repetition altogether meaningless. Our contemporary, if it does not adopt a more courteous style, is in danger of becoming a survival of a bad state of things that is fast passing away.

We do not propose to refer again to the Kitchen episode further than to say that all the particulars are before the readers of the newspapers, and they have, no doubt, formed their own conclusions as to the nature of the part played by Mr. Kitchen. We will further take the liberty of directing our contemporary's attention to a remark made by Mr. Brown, which appears in its own report of Wednesday's proceedings. It is this:

Mr. Brown—"Mr. Kitchen acted very honorably about the document. He would not even show it to his colleagues."

Now if Mr. Kitchen was not conscious that he had received the document in an irregular way, why should he keep it concealed from his colleagues? If, as the Times says, in its editorial, "this printed document was openly and publicly handed to him," what object would he have in keeping it hidden away until the opportunity came to produce it in the Legislative Assembly? To hide away a document that had been openly and publicly handed to him would have been a very absurd proceeding.

RECONCILED.

We are not surprised to find that the people of Germany are delighted to see their Emperor and Bismarck good friends again. The people have always admired Bismarck and they have learned to love and respect their young Emperor. It is therefore no wonder that they were pained that the disagreement between the two greatest men in the Empire, both of whom stand so high in their esteem, should be so bitter and should last so long, and that they are rejoiced to see that it has at last come to an end. There is no doubt that there are many in Germany who believe that the old statesman who has done so much for Germany may yet do good service to the state if he is allowed the opportunity. Europe is in a critical condition, and there is no telling when the experience and the wisdom of the venerable ex-Chancellor will be of the greatest use to both the Emperor and the people. At any rate, it must be satisfactory to know that when the time of Bismarck's departure comes, he will be at peace with the grandson of the Emperor whose faithful servant he was and for whom he did so much. It is almost certain that the good understanding that now exists between the Emperor William and Prince Bismarck will not be again interrupted.

THE CITY.

"UNCLE TOM'S CABIN," the perennially popular attraction, is to be seen next Friday and Saturday at the Victoria.

SUMMONSES have been issued requiring the appearance of a number of Campbell's corner loafers in the Police court.

THOMAS KING, who was arrested for removing Frank Campbell's bulletins of local events, was charged as drunk in the Police court yesterday, and dismissed with a caution.

At next Wednesday's meeting of the public school board a petition from the residents of the Oakland district in regard to the educational requirements in their locality will come up.

THE friends of the East Fernwood mission, Oak Bay avenue, intend on Monday night giving their friends a concert and social, at which Mr. J. G. Brown, Mr. Allan and others will take part.

THE committee of young men who are at work on the Y.M.C.A. met last night and received reports from the canvassers. The amount is still behind what is needed. Help has been asked from the executive committee of the Pacific Northwest.

At the Golden Eagle mine, China creek, three tunnels have now been run, and though No. 1 has pinched in somewhat at the mouth, the contractor is in hopes that it will widen out again. The seven-foot ledge higher up is expected to do well.

ON Monday evening the Y.M.I. will hold their weekly meeting in Institute hall, when Rev. Father Van Nevel, first vice-president of the society, who is at present travelling in their interests throughout the Northwest, is expected to give a lecture. He is looked for home to-day.

MR. F. M. RATTENBURY, architect for the new Provincial buildings, is one of the party of experts who left on the steamer Mystery yesterday for Haddington island, where the quarries are located, from which the stone for the new buildings is obtained. The party expect to return early next month.

THE following resolution, presented by Ald. Dwyer, will be brought before the City Council at its next sitting: "That a committee be appointed to act in conjunction with the water commissioner for the purpose of dealing with matters relative to the water works, and report to the Council."

PHINEAS MANSON, who is still held on the coroner's warrant as a result of the inquest Wednesday, did not appear in the Police court yesterday, his case being set for hearing this morning. The charge entered in the lookup register is manslaughter, but the arraignment will be "for hastening the death of his wife by criminal neglect."

MAYOR TEAGUE has bulletined the following recommendation: "That the Council appropriate and authorize the treasurer to pay for the month of January the following amounts as they become due, viz: the same amounts as were paid in each case during 1893 as the rate of monthly salary to the water commissioner and to each officer, caretaker or other employee of the corporation."

A FREE discourse is to be given at the City Hall this evening by Mr. A. D. Wilson of the Sloane, concerning that great mining country, touching on the Nelson and Ainsworth districts and generally descriptive of that part of West Kootenay, its lines of communication, public improvements, towns, mining camps, climate and characteristics. The lecture will be particularly descriptive of the new noted Kasko-Sloane region, its mines and mining prospects, the character of its ores, the dry and wet ore belts, the present status of mining development, the output of the different mines down to the beginning of the present month, the ownership of the mines and mining properties, general trade, etc.

CHARLES SINGLAI, a well dressed young man of good connection and fine appearance, was yesterday sentenced to two months imprisonment at hard labor by Magistrate Macrae, his offence being the theft of a $9 pair of opera glasses from the store of Mr. Robert Jamieson. The loss of the glasses would not have been discovered had not Sinclair mentioned to a friend that he saw a third party steal them. When arrested by Sergt. Walker the young man confessed his guilt, and pleaded in partial explanation that he had for months been looking for employment without success and was practically starving. Had he told this story to the magistrate his sentence would have been merely nominal, but he preferred to take the witness box and then tangled himself in a network of contradictions. Sinclair's history would make an interesting narrative. He has been a soldier, a mounted policeman, a car driver, a logger, an engineer, a hotel man, and an actor—the stage being his chosen profession. Fifty cents of the dollar which he obtained by pawning the opera glasses was spent for liquor over a city bar.

HON. MR. JUSTICE DRAKE yesterday gave judgment in the case of Jensen v. Sheppard as follows. "The facts of the case have already appeared. In this case defendant is held in custody under a writ of ca. sa. The plaintiff paid the weekly allowance to the sheriff up to the 17th day of January; the next weekly allowance was due on the 17th. This was not paid until the 23rd. The defendant applied to be discharged on the ground of non-payment of the weekly allowance due on the 17th day of January. The summons was dismissed because it had not been served on the plaintiff, as required by the rules. On the day of the dismissal of this summons the plaintiff paid to the sheriff the allowance up to the 31st of January. On the 25th the defendant again applied for his discharge on the ground of the omission to pay on the 17th, claiming that no subsequent payment could cure the omission of payment in accordance with the terms of the rule 976. The language of rule 977 is precise in case the maintenance money is not paid as aforesaid, the defendant shall be entitled to be discharged. The money by the previous rule is required to be paid in advance, $3.50 a week. Not being so paid, I think the defendant is entitled to his discharge." J. A. Aikman appeared for the plaintiff.

THE annual meeting of the British Columbia Rifle association is to take place next Tuesday evening at the new drill hall. The past year was one of the most successful in the history of the association, and the reports to be presented and the arrangements to be made for next year are expected to prove very interesting.

THE funeral takes place to-morrow afternoon of the late John McLean, an esteemed member of Vancouver-Quadra lodge, No. 2, A.F. and A.M., whose death occurred yesterday at the family residence on John street. The deceased was a native of Manchester, Eng., and 52 years of age. He leaves a widow and family.

THE Secretary of the Poultry Association received word last night from a prominent California fancier who has been making an effort to secure a poultry judge for the show here next month, that he had secured the services of the best judge there is in the State, subject to the approval of the Society. The contract will probably be closed to-day.

"WHAT shall we do with our boys and girls?" was the subject of Prof. Cozen's philosophical lecture at Institute hall last evening, the attendance being large and the interest manifested very considerable. Professor Cozen has intimated to the trustees of the Metropolitan Methodist church his willingness to give a lecture under their auspices for the benefit of the city's poor.

A DISPATCH from Montreal announces that the new naval storekeeper, Mr. Wiloughby, passed through there yesterday with a party of 41 supernumeraries enroute from Halifax to Esquimaux. The new arrivals include one chief boatswain, 15 stokers and 25 marines, and are due to arrive here next Tuesday. H.M.S. Garnet is expected to leave for southern waters, and home, five days later.

Is the Full court yesterday the appeal of Fletcher v. McGillivray was argued. It is an appeal to dissolve an injunction granted by Hon. Mr. Justice Crease, regarding the ownership of lot 549, group 1, Kootenay. The Full court dissolved the injunction of the court below, each party being ordered to pay his own costs. Hon. A. N. Richards and Mr. McPhillips for the defendant McGillivray, Mr. Lutton for Croft, and Mr. Helmecken for plaintiffs.

GEORGE McALPINE and John McNeil were jointly charged in the Police court, yesterday, with the larceny of an overcoat left hanging at the door of B. Williams & Co.'s clothing establishment on Johnson street. The sentence was three months imprisonment at hard labor. Robert Gray, who was arrested in Westminster, also for the larceny of a coat, was remanded until Monday. He has a very good defence in the statement that the coat was taken in transit.

THE Alberni Mining and Exploration syndicate, on receipt of recent favorable reports of valuable finds, and also in anticipation of a satisfactory settlement with the E. & N. railway company in reference to the ownership of the precious metals within the railway belt, held a meeting a day or so ago, at which it was decided to vigorously push the development of the several claims just as soon as the weather will permit. The syndicate controls a number of very valuable quartz claims, together with placers of great promise, on China creek.

LABOR BUREAU ACT.

A New Measure Simplifying the Procedure Especially With Reference to Conciliation.

The new labor bureau act, presented to the Legislature yesterday afternoon, is a simplification of the measure of 1893, which it is intended to supersede. The principal changes are in relation to the councils of conciliation and of arbitration, which are not to be standing organizations as before provided for, but are to be appointed from time to time as occasion may require. A more expeditious mode of starting the operations of the council of conciliation is provided, and a substantial penalty is attached to the neglect or failure of any party to a dispute to secure representation before the council when required to do so. It is provided that the President of the Board of Arbitrators to whom the council may refer matters upon which they cannot agree, shall be a Judge of the Supreme court of British Columbia, to be appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council on the nomination of the other two arbitrators, and these latter are to be named by the parties to the dispute before it is considered by the council of conciliation. These new paragraphs show how the procedure has been simplified:

8. Councils of conciliation shall consist of four conciliators, who shall be appointed by the commissioner from time to time, upon the recommendations or nominations of disputants; two by each party to any dispute or claims, by or on behalf of any employer, or the employees of any employer, for the purpose of dealing specially with any reference of such disputes to a council of conciliation shall be made in manner pursuant to regulations to be made under this act.

(1) When one party to a dispute or claim makes application to have it referred to a council of conciliation, and names two conciliators for such purpose, then the other party to the dispute or claim shall, within four days of being so requested, name two conciliators to consider the reference conjointly with the conciliators named by the first party.

(2) In the event of the party failing or refusing to name conciliators within the prescribed time after being so requested, he shall, after a formal demand has been made for the same, be liable, upon summary conviction, to a fine of twenty dollars for every such refusal, or for each and every day the making of such requested nominations for conciliators shall be delayed.

(3) In the event of either party to a reference failing to nominate conciliators, after the expiration of four days from the date of request, conciliators may be appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor.

THE SINGLE TAX.

TO THE EDITOR:—I have always thought that the ambition of every industrious mechanic and laborer was to work for the possession of a home of his own. That such is the case we have ample evidence in Victoria, for at the time of taking the last census ninety per cent. of the heads of families owned their own homes. By what rule of common sense, or justice, then, should these industrious and frugal people be crushed and driven out of the country by undue taxation, whilst the idle and the profligate would escape by allowing such commodities as they use—tobacco, whiskey, and clothing—to go free under the single tax. If one person places his money in land, fairly bought in a market which is open to all, and another places his money in merchandise, fishing, mining, lumbering or any other industry, both receiving equally the freedom and benefits of living under a stable and civilized government, why should the one bear all the burden of taxation, and the other not contribute a farthing?

Fortunately governments in levying taxes on the people bring common sense to bear, and have some consideration for the taxpayer, by laying their burdens in the least oppressive and most equitable manner. If it were possible to have every family living on its own town lot, capitalists driven out of the country, and all brought to the same level, who would be left to give employment? Who would build factories, shops and warehouses, and residences which would be an ornament to the town? Without capital the mechanic and laborer could not do any of these things, and stagnation of the most chilling kind would prevail. Capital and labor are indispensable to each other, and the energetic, enterprising man cannot be hampered or unduly taxed, but be perfectly free to invest the proceeds of his energy in land, railways or merchandise according to his choice.

It is not possible to make all men equal in industry, intelligence, or business capacity, and there is no use trying to reduce or to raise men to a universal standard. There will always be the careful, acquisitive man, as well as the idle and profligate, and if an equal division of land and money were made tomorrow, we would again in a short time find the careful and rich, and the idle and profligate. What the merits of the single tax may be I cannot see, and consider it as impossible, as it would be unjust, oppressive and unequal in its bearing. If the present Dominion, Provincial and municipal taxes were placed on land, I feel sure the mechanic and laboring man would be the first to give land the go-by, and would manifest no anxiety to possess even one town lot. Landlords are not to be envied under the existing condition of things, and under the "single tax" system he, and the one lot man would be much less so.

HAWAIIAN RESOLUTIONS.

Their Discussion Deferred to Make Way for Other Business.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—McCreary has been authorized by the majority of the House committee on foreign affairs to favorably report the resolution defining the attitude of Congress toward Hawaii. It denounces the action of the United States Minister in employing United States forces in aiding the overthrow of the constitutional Government and the setting up of the Provisional Government, and endorsing the principle announced by President Cleveland that interference in the affairs of an independent nation was contrary to the spirit of the American constitution. It declares that annexation of the islands or a protectorate over them are unequal for, and that foreign intervention in the affairs of the island will not be regarded with indifference by the United States.

The resolutions were not considered in the Senate to-day. They were presented in the morning hour, but laid aside in order to give Mr. Allen, the Nebraska Populist an opportunity to deliver an argument against the authority of the Secretary of the Treasury to issue five per cent. bonds. His argument was to the effect that the authority for the issue and sale of bonds, ceased to be operative as soon as its purpose—the redemption of outstanding legal tender notes—was accomplished, and that it has no more effect now than a piece of blank paper. An hour was spent in an uninteresting discussion of the House bill to repeal the Federal election laws. After that, the business of the Senate was laid aside in order to have proper respect paid to the memory of the late representative Chipman of Michigan. Eulogies of Mr. Chipman were pronounced, and the Senate at 4:50 adjourned.

EVOLUTION A THEORY.

An Oakland, Cal., Clergyman Disputes the Contention of Prof. Joseph Le Conte.

(From the San Francisco Examiner.)

"I say it was most unscientific to make such a statement, and to a lot of clergymen confused by the inhalation of cigarette smoke and the fumes of wine," said Rev. G. W. Hennings, of the Second Congregational church, in the course of a lecture before the Oakland, Cal., Young Men's Christian Association. The statement was made by the speaker when referring to a remark made by Professor Joseph Le Conte, of the University of California, at the recent banquet of the Church Club that "evolution was as well established a law as gravitation."

Rev. Mr. Hennings claimed that evolution is only a theory and not a law, and took occasion to score the eminent scientist because of his endeavors to delude theologians. After briefly reviewing the atheistic, theistic and agnostic theories of evolution, Rev. Dr. Hennings said he opposed all theories but that advanced by Professor Le Conte—that God put in the earth resident forces which he then left to unfold themselves. Continuing, the speaker said: "The theory of evolution is nothing but a theory as yet, and I take issue with Professor Le Conte in that he says it is an established law like gravitation. I flatly contradict this eminent scientist in his contention that evolution is based upon all the laws of science—of biology, geology, etc., and I say that it is most unscientific in him to make such a contention."

"There is not a single fact in biology that sustains the theory. There is a certain point in the development of a germ where it is impossible to tell whether it will develop into a dog, a monkey, an elephant or anything else. We do not know of a single instance where the germ of a dog has developed into a monkey, or that of a monkey into an elephant. It might have been so, but we have never yet seen or even heard of the transition. There are facts which point to this theory, but they are not enough on which to base this theory. To establish it something more than mere indication is needed. We want something between the stone and the vegetable to show the transmutation of the vegetable into the stone. In brief, we want the fact which shows the process of transmutation from the vegetable to the animal. We want the missing links before we can safely follow out the inductive process of science."

"It is a fact well known to breeders that in order to make an advance, in order to get something higher, it is necessary to put a higher species in conjunction with a lower species, and not two of the same grade species. Now, I want to know whence comes the higher species of the theory of evolution? If man is but a developed 'it' I want to know how 'it' came about."

Rev. Dr. Hennings then referred to the church club banquet, and in commenting upon David Starr Jordan's statement made upon the same occasion that "consciousness is objective and not subjective" ridiculed it and smilingly said: "When scientists try to master theological terms it is about as bad as theologians trying to get the terms of the evolutionists." In speaking upon the origin of God's creation, Mr. Hennings said: "Moses tells us that God originally created animals, and that each begot of his kind, and that we must believe until the contrary is proved. That is not the law of continuity, but of continuance. Through all the ages, we must reflect, a dog has been a dog, and we have never seen one become a monkey. We have seen many strange things which point toward evolution, but we have never seen the transition."

In support of his stand that evolution was only a theory and not a law the speaker quoted from Vitchow, Mivart and many other famous scientists and continuing said: "Only facts of science should be taught the rising generation. What is theory should be taught as fact. In the first place this theory of evolution had its supposed basis in the theory of spontaneous combustion. This theory had quite a run, but it was killed by John Tyndall, who, after a most careful experiment, gave it out as his conclusion, 'that from a sowing of dead particles can come no life.' Professor David Starr Jordan places man at the head of a series of animals, and leaves him thereafter pointing out his resemblances to the other animals; and in that I claim that scientists are unscientific and unfair. They are as much as man can be; they never say a word on what differentiates animals from man. But let me, a little man, say that the differences are more numerous and more marked than are the resemblances. And I further say that it is the veriest nonsense, the trashiest nonsense, to say there is anything in common between the speech of man and monkey. If scientists say we clergymen are ignorant of facts, and if we clergymen are willing to become more enlightened, the scientists certainly have the right to enlighten us. Until then I shall go on preaching the word of God as given us by Moses, of Jesus Christ and of the resurrection."

HAYTIAN AFFAIRS.

General Campos Assassinated—Bomb Throwers Executed—Rites of the Church Refused.

PORT AU PRINCE, Hayti, Jan. 25.—The United States corvette Kearsarge arrived here yesterday. Upon arriving in the harbor the Kearsarge sent a boat to the Ailla, which was off this port, and brought Rear Admiral Stanton on board. He had orders from the Navy department to assume command of the North Atlantic station, and take charge of affairs, especially in Dominican waters. He hoisted his flag on the Kearsarge this morning with appropriate ceremonies.

On December 10, 1893, General Campos, Governor of the Azua district, Dominica, was assassinated while riding upon the public road. A few days later President Heureaux passed over the same road, but with a strong military escort. The sudden shying of a mule while passing a thicket at the roadside attracted attention. The escort plunged in and captured six men with dynamite bombs, which they had intended throwing at the President had not the strength of the escort prevented them from doing so. An investigation took place and a conspiracy was revealed. Two brothers, Carlos and Pablo Baz, nephews of a former president, Baz, were implicated and imprisoned.

On December 19 Heureaux sent for a brother-in-law of Marchina and told him to get a suit of clothes as he was going to take a trip to Azua. "One suit will be sufficient," gave a grim signification to his words. They embarked upon the presidential yacht, the old Deerhound, of Cherbourg fame, and went to Azua. On the 21st, Marchina, the brothers Baz and the six would-be dynamite bomb throwers were executed by being shot, the former three on the very spot where the blood stains still showed where Campos lost his life. The rites of the church were refused, and also a request by Marchina to be allowed to write a note of farewell to his wife, with whom he had not been allowed communication for twelve months. They were buried in the roadway, where passing wheels and hoofs will soon obliterate all traces of their graves. To the prayers of the family for the remains to give them a decent burial, the reply was made: "Anyone touching these graves will be instantly shot."

What Tradition Tells Us About The Ambitious City.

LA SALLE AND HIS VOYAGEURS.

The First White Men to Set Foot Upon Where Now Stands the Flourishing City of Hamilton.

ANOTHER STORY, BUT NOT TRADITIONAL,

IT COMES FROM ONE WHO WAS RESTORED TO LIFE.

MR. JOHN R. LONG.

Tradition tells us that the first white men to set foot upon where now stands the flourishing city of Hamilton, were La Salle and his voyageurs, who explored the head waters of Lake Ontario in 1669, when the "forest primeval" was in an unbroken state, and the red man in undisputed possession. The first authentic record of the location of a white settlement on the present city's site, gives the name of Robt. Long as the pioneer, and the date as 1778. It is often difficult to verify traditional history; but, from what we know of this particular section of Canada, we are inclined to accept the story as handed down to us.

In this issue of our paper we are permitted (for the benefit of our readers) to give in a condensed form, a wonderful history or story, as related by a gentleman well and favorably known in Hamilton and in many other cities and towns in Ontario.

Mr. John R. Long, of 19 Burlington street west, Hamilton, is a gentleman who has come very prominently before Hamiltonians this year, as the publisher of the first Guide Book ever issued for the purpose of advertising the "Ambitious City." In this work Mr. Long has scored an immense success, and given such a degree of satisfaction that he has been prevailed upon to publish an enlarged edition in May of the present year.

Now for Mr. Long's interesting story, true in every particular and detail, and related with a view of benefitting thousands in every section of this broad Dominion. We may remark that this brief story has a special reference to a critical period in Mr. Long's life; it refers to a time when his life was in danger and despaired of; when all hope and deliverance seemed to vanish; when the grim reaper stood ready with outstretched arms to claim his life.

From Mr. Long's letter we give the following extracts: "I was so terribly afflicted with dyspepsia that I came near dying. When sick with this awful disease, I had constantly a heavy load on my stomach, which was as sore as a boil. I was continually gasping for breath, sick all over, my system and mind run low, my kidneys were out of order, pains everywhere, costive, always tired and weak, indeed, so weak at intervals that I had to leave my duties to rest; and as a consequence, I lost my situation, a light but responsible one. I could not sleep at nights; I rarely ate anything, though always hungry, and what little I did eat nearly drove me crazy. I had no desire for life in this condition. The more I thought of it, the more I wondered how I lived. Several different advertised medicines were recommended to me and tried, but with no beneficial results; I was simply throwing away money. Finally I resolved to try Paine's celery compound, which was the last medicine I had decided to buy, as I was tired of trying so many. After taking nearly two bottles of this wonderful Paine's celery compound, I began to feel improved, and regain color and flesh. I continued its use for five months, taking five bottles, and at the end of that time I was completely cured, and have never been sick since. When I commenced with Paine's celery compound, I weighed 123 pounds; at the end of five months I had gained 20 pounds—a pound a week—and now weigh 143 pounds, the most I ever weighed in my life; and the result is, that to-day I am strong, healthy, and as vigorous as any man, and enjoy my regular meals. Before, life was a burden to me; I was always cross and cranky, and enjoyed no pleasures as others could, and was in a melancholy mood, and people around me often heard me remark, 'I am tired of living.' To-day, I thank God, and the makers of Paine's celery compound that I am free from trouble, that I enjoy life and have a desire to live long. I am cured of that horrible and life-ruining disease, and I testify to the merits of Paine's celery compound, because I know there are hundreds of cases like mine; and I trust this testimony may fall into the hands of many suffering men and women. Every word I have written is God's truth, and can be vouched for by those who know of my case."

What a history of suffering! What a wonderful history of cure! Can the records of the many common advertised medicines of our day furnish proof like Mr. Long's? No other can do so, reader; it is only Paine's celery compound that can give satisfaction, relief and cure. If Mr. Long had continued with the medicines that aggravated his troubles, he would not have lived to publish his handsome and valuable Guide Book. There is a warning here to all who are sick and diseased that should not be unheeded. When you are about to purchase a medicine, do not allow the dealer to persuade you to take something else instead of Paine's celery compound. The something else is for the seller's advantage, not for your good. Demand Paine's celery compound; be firm in your demand; insist upon getting what you ask for, as your very life and existence depends upon the best—that which has saved others.

A Dear Baby Saved!

A TORONTO MOTHER SPEAKS

The Statement Endorsed by a Well-known Druggist.

When babies fail to thrive upon cow's milk—when they become weak and puny, and sicken when fed on common prepared foods, then does Lactated Food, when used, show its great superiority over all other forms of infant nourishment.

Lactated Food can justly claim that it "Saves babies' lives." The proprietors of Lactated Food have abundant proof to show that after other foods failed to sustain life, the Lactated Food made strong and fat the weak and emaciated babies.

Mrs. Boddington, of Toronto, makes a statement regarding the virtues of Lactated Food; she says: "I used cow's milk, but baby did not thrive. I afterwards commenced using your Lactated Food, and found that baby soon improved, and has since been contented and well."

The above statement is vouched for by Mr. A. P. Stirrett, druggist, Dundas street, Toronto, Ont.

SELECTED BY LOT.

How Anarchist Marrull Was Chosen to Assassinate Governor Larroca.

BARCELONA, Jan. 26.—The police have learned that the decision to kill Governor Larroca and Judge Domenech, who was selected by the Governor to try the anarchists in Barcelona, was taken by a group of anarchists at a meeting about ten days ago. Marrull was selected by lot to make the first attempt on their lives. Before shooting Larroca, yesterday, Marrull had waited in vain two hours for Domenech, whom he wished to kill first.

Seven men have been arrested on suspicion of complicity in the plot against Larroca and Domenech. Among them is the anarchist Felipe, who is believed to be the man who was with Marrull in front of the prefecture yesterday and ran away the moment Larroca was shot.

THE HELPING HAND

Boots and Shoes for Men Needed—The Relief Fund Growing

That the friends of Victoria's unemployed are not found in Victoria alone, is evidenced by the following letter which President T. J. Burnes, of the B. C. Benevolent Society, received from an unknown friend in Nanaimo yesterday. Accompanying the letter was a $5 bank note, which has been placed to the credit of the sympathetic Nanaimoite in the list of contributions:

NANAIMO, Jan. 25, 1894.
DEAR SIR: Having seen in the daily paper about the destitute families, I desire to contribute something to the fund for helping. Enclosed please find $5 for the purpose.
A FRIEND.

Secretary Mason's office continues to be besieged by needy applicants for relief—for something to do, something to eat or something to wear. Of clothing there is a considerable supply, but boots and shoes for men are sadly needed. Will some one send in a few pairs to-day? During yesterday upwards of $100 worth of relief orders were issued—money does not go very far among so many. Fortunately the relief fund grows.

No one should withhold a helping hand in the belief that some underserving man or woman will be benefited; the Benevolent Society will look after that. For the present it will not doubt be necessary for Secretary Mason to secure assistance, and also a suitable room for a relief bureau. Just now his office is crowded daily and his time fully occupied by the numerous applicants for aid.

Yesterday's additions to the fund, irrespective of gifts of clothing from numerous kind friends who modestly insist that their names be not mentioned, were as below:

FRANK McQUILLAN and his associates in the Black Horse and King Solomon mines at China creek have made arrangements with a New York gentleman, who will erect a Crawford mill on the King Solomon as soon as the spring opens. Mr. McQuillan, who is in town at present, states that the machinery is expected to arrive here in less than two months, and will be taken up to Alberni and erected as quickly as possible. The ore, after a careful examination, has been pronounced very suitable for treatment by the Crawford mill, and, as the vein is three feet wide and averages over $100 in gold, there can be no doubt it will pay well. "Indeed," explained Mr. McQuillan, "the vein lies so much along the creek, a branch of China creek, that nattle has already thrown down over a thousand tons of ore that has only to be broken up and treated." The King Solomon will be mined by first making a face on the hillside, then running in a tunnel of some thirty feet and sinking on the vein. Mr. McQuillan is very enthusiastic over the prospects of China creek.

BALFE's charming romantic opera "The Bohemian Girl" was presented by the Calhoun Opera Company at The Victoria last evening to a house which, like the first night audience, taxed to its limit the capacity of the theatre. Description of the opera or praise of its many beauties need not be given; "The Bohemian Girl" is the most popular of all with Victorians, and it is doubtful if any of its composers has furnished as many gems of song to enrich the music of the homes of America. Last night's production was smooth and complete, and though the chorus was scarcely as heavy as might have been desired, it was admirably handled. In the role of Arline, daughter of the Count, Miss Clement had ample opportunity for displaying her dramatic ability as well as for using to good advantage a soprano voice of unusual richness, compass and expression. Mr. Lyding sang his lines with taste and sympathy, filling the exacting part of Thaddeus, and Mr. Douglas A. Flint was a highly entertaining and melodious Devilshoof. Miss Cornish made a very acceptable gipsy queen, and Mr. Schuster (the Count), Mr. Thayer (Florestine), Mr. Thompson (Captain of Guards), and Mr. Hashav (Buda), all were good in both singing and acting. At to-day's afternoon performance Gilbert & Sullivan's "Mikado" will be presented, and to-night the company will close their engagement with Richard Stehl's "Said Pasha."

The Sir William Wallace Society held their regular weekly meeting last evening, when Messrs. McDonald and Munro opened the proceedings with a selection on the pipes, and an interesting and instructive exhibition followed. The Chief then introduced the lecturer of the evening, Rev. Dr. Campbell, who had for his subject "Burns." A gentleman present characterizes the lecture as one of the most instructive and eloquent listened to in this city upon any celebrity of Scottish history. The reverend doctor proclaimed Burns one of the very greatest men Scotland has produced, and that history furnishes no parallel where another poet has acquired equal celebrity in so short a lifetime. His contemporary historical allusions were very instructive and happy, and his comparisons between Burns Pitt and Carlyle peculiarly so. Dr. Campbell described Burns in his birth, life and death in choice terms and with quotations suitably illustrating the various stages of his lecture. He placed "The Cotter's Saturday Night" on a very high plane, and quoted the late learned Prof. Wilson of Toronto University as claiming for "Tam o' Shanter" the premier position of all poems of any time or language. He said the British Empire was quoted to a great extent by Scotchmen, and related the following extract from the Scottish American in support of his statement: "The appointment of the Earl of Elgin to be Viceroy of India puts the coping stone on Scottish appointments abroad, remarks a contemporary. At this moment Greater Britain is virtually ruled by Scotsmen. Canada has the Earl of Aberdeen for its Governor, Cape Colony is under Sir Henry Loch, a Midlothian man; New Zealand is under the Earl of Glasgow, Victoria under the Earl of Hopetoun, South Australia under the Earl of Kintore, New South Wales under Sir Robert Duff, British New Guinea under Sir Wm. Macgregor, the Mauritius under Sir Charles Cameron Lees, St. Helena under Mr. Grey Wilson, an Ayrshire man, and the Barbadoes under Sir J. S. Hay. All in their turn are under Mr. Gladstone, whose father was a Leith man. The Foreign Affairs are entrusted to the Earl of Rosebery, the army is controlled by Mr. Campbell-Bannerman, and home affairs are managed by Mr. Asquith, a Scottish member of Parliament. This should go some way to avenge Flodden."

CHINESE EXCLUSION.

Legislation by the State of California Declared to Be Unconstitutional.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 26.—The Supreme Court to-day declared that the act passed by the legislature in 1891, regarding the right of the state to limit immigration was unconstitutional. The case was that of three Chinamen arrested for unlawfully remaining in the state. The act provides for their deportation, but the court decides that the power thus attempted to be exercised belongs exclusively to the general government.

PLOT THWARTED.

Conspiracy to Assassinate the President of the Pittsburgh United Mine Workers' Union.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 26.—A plot to kill President Frye, of the Pittsburgh district of the United Mine Workers' Union, was frustrated to-day. The non-English speaking coal miners in the vicinity of Mansfield are in a violent state of excitement because the convention did not declare a strike for the 79 per cent. President Frye was invited to address a mass-meeting at Mansfield to-day. On his arrival he was met by some friends who told him of the threats and plot. He, however, decided to address the meeting, but delayed until his friends got the leaders in the movement and most dangerous men away from the hall. No threats were made but it is thought that the precautions taken saved his life.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—The Treasury department lost to-day in cash as compared with yesterday $1,300,000, making the net balance stand at the close of to-day's business $30,021,443, as follows: Gold, $66,922,331; currency, $23,099,117, less $7,294,798 for interest, making the true net balance in round figures $82,700,000. This is the lowest net balance the treasury in recent years, and the gold balance to-day stands lower than it ever has since specie payments were resumed in 1879.

CHLORODYNE.

Vice-Chancellor Sir W. PAGE WOOD stated publicly in court that Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE was undoubtedly the inventor of Chlorodyne that the whole story of the defendant, Freeman was literally untrue, and he regretted to say that it had been sworn to.—Times, July 13 1894.
DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE IS THE BEST AND MOST CERTAIN REMEDY IN COUGHS, COLDS, ASTHMA, CONSUMPTION, NEURALGIA, RHEUMATISM, &c.
DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE is prescribed by scores of orthodox practitioners. Of course it would not be thus singularly popular did it not "supply a want and fill a place."—Medical Times, Jan. 12 1895.
DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE is a certain cure for Cholera, Dysentery, Diarrhoea, Colic &c.
CAUTION—None genuine without the words "Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne" on the stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle. Sole manufacturer, J. T. DAVENPORT, 33 Great Russell St., London. Sold at 1s. 1d., 2s. 6d., 4s. ap23

READ A FEW TESTIMONIALS.

Dean & Cryderman,
Victoria, British Columbia,
GENTLEMEN.—Was troubled with Rheumatism so bad I could hardly walk, and was cured by using your Marvellous Rheumatic Cure.
A. MCNEILL,
New York Hotel.

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 17, 1893.
To Dean & Cryderman, druggists,
GENTLEMEN.—With much pleasure I add my testimony to your valuable Marvellous Rheumatic Cure. For three months I suffered terrible pain. Could not move only by the aid of two sticks. I have only taken two bottles of the medicine and two of the liniment, and I can now go without sticks, and hope after the third bottle to be well.
Yours very thankfully,
S. NORMAN,
No. 48 Oswego street, corner Michigan street.

Dean & Cryderman,
Victoria, British Columbia,
DEAR SIRS.—Had a bad sprained ankle, used Marvellous Liniment and was entirely cured in three days.
